Anti-Bribery Policy

PRESTIGE ASSET MANAGEMENT LIMITED (The Firm)
ANTI-BRIBERY POLICIES and PROCEDURES STATEMENT

1. Introduction

The Bribery Act 2010 (the “Act”), which came into force on 1 July 2011, reforms the criminal law in the UK to provide a new, modern and comprehensive scheme of bribery offences that will enable courts and prosecutors to respond more effectively to bribery at home or abroad.

The Act:

- provides a more effective legal framework to combat bribery in the public or private sectors;
- replaces the fragmented and complex offences in common law and in the Prevention of Corruption Acts 1889-1916;
- creates two general offences covering the offering, promising or giving of an advantage, and requesting, agreeing to receive or accepting of an advantage;
- creates a discrete offence of bribery of a foreign public official;
- creates a new offence of failure by a commercial organisation to prevent a bribe being paid for or on its behalf (it will be a defence if the organisation has adequate procedures in place to prevent bribery);
- requires the Secretary of State to publish guidance about procedures that relevant commercial organisations can put in place to prevent bribery on their behalf; and
- helps tackle the threat that bribery poses to economic progress and development around the world
- Introduces six principles that are non-prescriptive and are intended to be flexible, which are considered in the Firm’s policy and are listed in Appendix C.

2. The Firm’s Commitment

The Firm, with the full support of its directors/partners, is committed to ensuring that it does not breach any of the four bribery offences which are:

- a. Offering or giving a bribe;
- b. Requesting or accepting a bribe;
- c. Bribing a foreign public official to obtain or retain business or business advantage; and
- d. Failure of “Commercial Organisations” (as defined) to prevent bribery.

The Firm’s directors are committed to preventing bribery either by the Firm itself or by persons associated with it and have published a statement (see Annex A) on the Firm’s website www.prestigeassetmanagement.co.uk indicating this. Furthermore, they are actively engaged in the risk assessment process (see below) which is endorsed at director/partner meetings.

Furthermore, the Firm’s directors are closely involved in the day-to-day management of the Firm, thus ensuring that they learn of any questionable practices as and when they arise and can put a stop to them and deal with them immediately.

3. The Firm's Policies and Procedures

To secure compliance with the Act the Firm has adopted certain specific procedures designed to prevent its directors, employees, agents and third parties contracted to it being involved in bribery and corruption.

These are designed to be proportionate to the nature, scale and complexity of the Firm's business activities, and to the bribery risks faced by the Firm. The procedures are as follows:

- An initial bribery risk assessment (see Annex B) is undertaken by the Firm's directors to assess the bribery risks that the Firm faces in its existing operations. The assessment process will be repeated whenever new business opportunities are considered, and/or whenever new agents/third parties are contracted to the Firm, whenever the Firm undertakes business in a new sector or a new country and whenever a new transaction is undertaken that involves charitable or political donations, licences, permits or public procurements.
- The Firm's directors undertake subsequent bribery risk assessments on an annual basis (see the questionnaire in Annex C) where a reassessment of the same initial risks is undertaken in case there have been changes, such as a new sector become risky or a country previously considered low risk becoming high risk, for example. This can be looked at separately or as part of the Firm's annual risk assessment of all its business risks.
- Where bribery risks are identified using this risk-based approach, the Firm will undertake appropriate due diligence work to vet new business opportunities, and/or new agents / third parties contracted to it.
- All new directors, staff and agents have certain terms and conditions included in their contract of employment or contract of engagement to require that they abide by the Firm's anti-bribery and procedures (with clauses allowing for early termination should they breach those terms and conditions).
- All new directors/partners, staff and agents are required to read the Firm's manuals (e.g. Compliance Procedures Manual, and Staff Manual/Handbook containing this statement) and to sign initial (and, subsequently, annual) declarations to acknowledge that they have read and understood, and will comply with, the Firm's policies and procedures on various matters, including on the Bribery Act.
- For new directors and staff there is also induction training where the Firm's bribery risk policies and procedures are discussed, and the importance of adherence to them is emphasised.
- For existing directors, staff and agents, initial and refresher training will be arranged by the Compliance Officer or training department on the Firm's anti-bribery procedures. Where new issues arise, or new legislation comes into force between training sessions, directors/partners, staff and agents will be informed by e-mail.
- The Firm's directors review all procedures on at least an annual basis, or as and when events occur requiring their immediate amendment, and in such instances directors/partners, staff and agents will be informed by e-mail of the changes.

- The Firm has appropriate internal controls to ensure its policies and procedures are adhered to and there is appropriate monitoring to ensure they are effective, thus minimising the risks of the Firm being exposed to bribery and corruption. Management are provided with reports on the monitoring undertaken.
- The Firm has adopted a Financial Commitment policy under which only the directors/partners of the Firm can commit the Firm in any financial way, namely to expenditure, whereby financial commitments up to a certain level may be entered into by one director, financial commitments above that level and up to a further level may be entered into by at least two directors/partners, and above that second level only by all directors/partners.
- The Firm's existing Expenditure policy will continue to be enforced, such that non-petty cash payments (i.e. all major expenditure) is under the control of the COO, there are no credit cards issued by the Firm and all expenditure is claimed through the expenses policy. Regular reconciliations are undertaken of the bank account and monthly checks are made of all expenditure.
- The Firm's existing Gifts and Benefits policy has been enhanced to require all directors, staff and agents to obtain written permission from the Compliance Officer (CO) or a stipulated director/partner before making or accepting any gift or benefit worth over £250. The CO or the stipulated director/partner maintains a register of all such requests and approvals, and this is reviewed on a regular basis by the directors.
- A Corporate Hospitality and Sponsorship policy has been introduced requiring all hospitality or sponsorship proposals to be fully documented with details of costs, timescales and expected benefits arising. The Firm's directors are required to approve all such proposals, and to keep a record of those which have been approved and not approved.
- The Firm's existing Conflict of Interests policy, as detailed in the Firm's Policies Manual, will continue to apply, with records maintained of all conflicts identified, details of directors' involvement and how the conflict was mitigated. This record is reviewed by the directors on a regular basis.
- The Firm's existing Whistleblowing policy, as detailed in the Procedures Manual, will continue to apply. This allows staff to report suspicions or concerns internally in the first instance and then to the relevant authority if the Firm does not deal with the concern satisfactorily. The Firm's Whistleblowing Officer maintains a record of the concern or complaint and of the subsequent investigation undertaken. This is reviewed by the Firm's directors on a regular basis.
- The Firm's policy on Political and Charitable Donations ensures that if the Firm intends to make a charitable donation, unless it is under GBP 250, must be presented to the board for approval. For charitable donations above this amount and for any political donations, the specific reasons given for making the donation and any potential benefits the Firm may obtain from it must be stated in the presentation. Political donations in relation to lobbying politicians or members of governments are not permitted.
- A Regular Review is undertaken by the Firm's directors/partners of remuneration payments to agents, employees and other contractors for services rendered. The Firm's directors' monitoring also includes a review of reports by independent parties such as external audit reports, reviews of complaint registers and media coverage of the Firm for bad press feedback.

- Regular Monitoring and Testing of adherence to the above policies and procedures is undertaken by the Compliance Officer. The results of this monitoring and testing is brought to the attention of the Firm's directors who will take whatever measures that are required where a control weakness or non-compliance has been identified.

Scoring Assessment:

A score of 67 to 110 indicates a high risk of bribery. Immediate steps need to be taken to counter the high risk and probability of bribery occurring. In certain cases, it may be necessary to stop certain operations or transactions occurring. The Firm will need to take urgent action in relation to specific high-risk areas identified above.

A score of 45 to 66 indicates a medium risk of bribery. A full anti-bribery policy needs to be in place and training rolled out at all levels. Such training should be given to employees and associated persons, including agents, consultants and temporary workers working on behalf of the Firm in the UK and overseas. Leadership is required from the directors/partners to ensure full engagement and compliance. The Firm should ensure that clear reporting mechanisms are in place so that suspected bribery will be dealt with immediately. Specific high-risk areas identified above should be dealt with at the highest levels, preferably by directors/partners as an urgent priority.

A score of 22 to 44 indicates a low risk of bribery. Where there is a low risk based on the risk factors identified above, steps will be taken to ensure that there are adequate procedures in place to counter bribery. This may include a written policy that is available to all employees and associated persons working on behalf of the Firm and regular audits of key financial processes, including expenses and hospitality. The Firm should keep its risk assessment under review and take appropriate steps should a bribery risk emerge.
